This British Trident 2E, G-AVFB, is a recent addition to the Duxford Aviation Society's unique collection of post-war civil airliners. It first flew in November 1967, serving with BEA and subsequently Cyprus Airways. Damaged at Nicosia Airport it was later repaired and returned to Britain for operation on the UK Shuttle Service, making its last commercial flight in March 1982. It is seen here landing at Duxford Airfield.
